Each routine runs five to seven minutes and consists of a number of shorter routines, or steps, each with its own unique rhythm and beat. Teams are required (of the GBSA) to incorporate "intros" and "outros", interactive steps (participants make contact during the step), floor steps (steps done on the floor), multipart steps (steps in which more than one beat is synchronized at a time), steps to music (the beat of the step mimicks the beat of the music), and the standard dtep in each routine. The Alcohol Awareness/Peer Leadership Program is offered for the 23rd year at AHS. The ensemble concept allows a maximum number of students to apply techniques explored in the drama classes. In the past, Arlington High's Drama Guild productions have been state winners in the annual drama festival sponsored by the Boston Globe. One state winner developed by Arlington students, director and faculty author, has been so popular that it has been performed by high school students in all 50 states. METCO

Arlington's METCO (Metropolitan Council for Educational Opportunity) is a thirty-six year old, voluntary, one-way urban/suburban experience. This program began in 1966 with fifteen students and has increased participation over the years to its current level of over 98 students town wide. Congratulations Class of 2003.

In a few short weeks you will be stepping across the threshold and entering the next phase in your development. The lessons that you have learned from your parents and from your time at Arlington High School will serve you well, however the responsibility to use those lessons wisely is now yours. The rewards and consequences of those choices will rest squarely on your shoulders, no longer will you be able to claim as a means of defense, "I'm only a high school student" as you are rapidly moving into the world of adulthood.

The faculty, staff, administration and your parents are extremely proud of your progress to date and we are buoyed by the knowledge that you have already accomplished so much in such a short period of your life. However the most important accomplishments of your life are yet to be and these rewards will not be measured by the amount of your annual salary, the car you drive, or the fine clothes you wear. Give of yourself to your family and community, create comfort in your spiritual belief, assist others less fortunate than you and use your individual gifts for the greater good.

Best of luck and may your future be even more successful than your past.

Sincerely,

Stephen L. Woodcock

Images of AnneMarie

You came second of the four, but you're first in all your ways, that's the score
Bringing joy, with so many talents unexpected, bearing burdens unprotected
Selflessly bringing forth your family's potential, reminding all you are that special.

Brooklyn-born, Arlington-bred, you first talked like a Kennedy thought some well read,
At Pete's Kitchen you devoured home fries, but McDonalds' handles you despised.
On Pheasant Ave you cried for all to hear, and Alan left James alone, in fear.

Big sister twice, little sister once, godmother now, maybe again, but not by us,
An actress when you want, stressed if not, never a dare, beauty beyond compare.
Your dog play brought Toby, your humor highly strung, your smarts awe of one so young.

To Riyadh, Jeddah, Rome, each one by plane, you reasoned four homes, not one the same, finding places for your ponies, all nearly the same, but you knew each and every single name.
Your first teacher let your imagination run wild, a doggy you played, was it just a game?

On the Spanish Steps you saw what that guy almost did, trying to bop you on your lid.
In Siena, you asked, is our hostess real, thinking looking like a Barbie was no big deal.
In London you discovered theater, Twilight Express, in Riyadh your spanish dancer dress.

Your travels confounded your kindergarten teacher, you went to Japan to see a preacher!
Your painting in 1B earned Highest Honors but those St. Agnes teachers were just frowners,
Your potential blooming, always forgiving, in the top bunk you slept calm, unassuming.

You went to Montrose, grades sixth to eighth, dressed almost neatly in white blouse,
And before you left, Marc Anthony you played after your Ophelia brought down the house,
While there, another chore never minimal, you coped by imagining one teacher an animal.

Into a fine young woman you have grown, noble of nature, fine of feature, virtue honed.
Radiant in prom gown, semi dress, or jeans, wearing your hair just like the queen.
Blue eyes sparkle, dimples enchant, smile invites, teeth once an orthodontist's delight.

Friends you have aplenty, to all you remain loyal and true, always forthcoming.
Migraines are your bane, but you fill each hour with ninety minutes when unchained,
Soccer player then coach, cheerleader, theater jobs too many, BIP, babysitter, no reproach.

A World Youth Day you attended, seeking lifeblood, being there, you said, to sleep in the mud.
Spain you did enjoy, never bored, returning with gifts, and for Peter, two swords!
Austria and Germany, in your senior Spring break, before going to college, in a wink.

Multi-tasking, you IM, listen to music, keep two phone lines busy, and study, we think.
Shopping for bargains is your delight, but keeping your room neat is far from sight,
So many pants, tops, and sweaters you have bought, yet Claire's too out you sought.

You are the best, head and shoulders above the rest, soaring like an eagle to her nest.
Worlds you will conquer, others you will explore, with gifts and talents galore
Your leaving all will deplore, but we will rejoice as you return, always to us restore.

Congratulations Allison!
 We are proud of you and your accomplishments
 May all your dreams come true
 Love,
 Your Biggest Fans-
 Mom, Dad + Brian

Congratulations Matt on all you have accomplished.
 We are so proud of you.
 Mom, Dad, Tom, Mike.

You have been through so much in your short time here. But through it all you have only succeeded and become more dear. Life threw you some major curves, too hard to call. And what did you do? Pitch them back a mean fast ball! That's how you handle life to the letter. Not getting even, just getting better. As I always say "You were a gift from God to Mama... and a gift from Mama to us all." Now get there #7, enjoy life, be safe and have a ball. We're so proud to say you're our son, no matter what anyone says! Love, Aunty, Uncle Steve, Jackie, Nicholas and Johnathan.

We hope your life is full of the joys that you have given to us through all of your years at home. You have blessed us with your presence.

From the early ballet recitals to the great saves you have made as a field and ice hockey goalie, from the Hardy School concerts to the jazz band, and everything else in between, you have brought us many happy and proud moments that we will cherish forever.

Like a flower, we have fed, sheltered and watched you grow. You have blossomed into a beautiful young woman. May you continue to bloom and bring joy to all.

God bless and guide you as you begin the next phase of life's journey.

Love,
Mom and Dad
